MR. TILDEN'S RAILROAD SCHEMES.

HIS FRIEND MR. JORDAN REPORTS IN FAVOR OF THE ROUSE BETWEEN MIDDLETOWN AND GREENWOOD LAKE-THE HUDSON CONNECT-

Although Mr. Conrad N. Jordan would not acknowledge yesterday that his recent trip to examine the route between Greenwood Lake and Middletown had been made in the interest of Mr. Tilden's proposed trunk line to the West it was stated on good authority that his report to his chief was favorable, and that a conference was held yester-day, at which Mr. Jordan, as chairman of the Oswego Mildiand Committee of Reorganization and president of the Hudson connecting road, met Mr. Honry Amy, the banker; Mr. Theodore Houston, Secretary of the Oswego Midland Railroad Company, and Abram S. Hewitt, President of the New York and Greenwood Lake road. The result of this conter-ence was not made known, but it was understood that the meeting was in reference to Mr. Jordan's mpany after the road shall have been reorganized. In regard to Mr. Jordan's report a gentleman well known in Wall street said:—"There is no doubt that it will be favorable, although Mr. Tilden knew its value very well from personal examination before Mr. Jordan and his associates started. The line pro-posed to be built will be comparatively inexpensive and will go direct through a country that yields a Field, suspecting what was going on, bought in nearly $100,000 of the securities, and all the securities are now carried by Mr. Tilden, Mr. Field and an enterprising young Jerseyman, William O. McDoweil. The estimates showed that an annual saving of $50,000,000 in the handling of the merchandise of the port of New York could be made by having vessels all land at the warehouse on the Jersey shore, and deliver goods and receive return cargoes immediately from vessel to warehouse and from warehouse to car. In Alis way there would be a saving of all lighterage and cartage charges in the port. It was also estimated that the cost of all the necessary improvements would not exceed $25,000,000 and that the profits from investments would be as handsome as the present profits of the elevated reads. While litigation was in progress in regard to breaking the lease of the Hulson Connecting road to the New Jersey Midhand, both Mr. Tilden sand Mr. Field became for a time very much interested in building the elevated roads. The same plan, however, carried out now, having in addition to the roads along the terminus at the New Jersey shore the possible business of the New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York Central at some point, would make that place what Liverpool is to London, and enable New York, on the question of conomical terminal charges and facilities, to offer advantages which the rival ports of Boston, Philadelphia or Baltimore could never give.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

It was reported yesterday on Wall street that the Columbus and Sandy Creek and the Central Ohio railroads had been consolidated under the name of the Ohio Central Railroad Company, and that it is the Ohio Central Railroad Company, and that it is proposed to put the road in operation at once if local assistance is offered. The capital stock of the new company is $4,000,000, and the northern terminus of the road is at Toiceo. It is said that the finished portion of the Columbus and Sandy Creek Valley road will be equipped immediately, and that it will cost $1,000 per mile to complete the roadbed of the Central Ohio Railroad.

THE COURTS.

THE BERRIEN WILL CONTEST. The testimony in the Berrien will case was closed yesterday. Dr. Kenneth Reid was the last witness called in behalf of the contestants. He testified that Daniel Berrien, the testator, called upon him on the atterneon of June 5, 1877, the day before the will was executed, and spoke excitedly, as if under the influence of liquor, denouncing Dr. Mott's treatment of his wite, who died in the May previous, of pneumonia. This trisi has lasted more than a year, and has been vigorously contested on both sides. The contestants claim that Mr. Eerrien's mind had become disordered by the continuous use of liquor; that he was incapable of making a will, and that the bequests of $30,000 to Mrs. Steele and her children, with whom Mr. Berrien lived during the last of his life, were procured by undue influence. The proponents, on the other hand, claim that they have established by upward of twenty witnesses, who saw Mr. Berrien frequently, and many of whom knew him intimately that, while sober, he was a careful, shrewd, able business man; that no evidence of undue influence has been given. The case has been adourned to January 20, when the final argument will be made. Mr. John E. Develin appears for the contestants and Mr. Theodore F. Miller for the Steeles, infant legatees. trip. When questioned about the excursion, Mr. Jordan smiled mysteriously and went so far as to say that "somebody must have been impersonating him in that railroad trip." He was dumb as an oyster in regard to the plans of the Oswego Midland oyster in regard to the plans of the

In last Sunday's HERALD was reported the fact of the arrest of Mr. Jacob Hirsh and Henry Eckstein, comprising the firm of Hirsh & Co., on a warran comprising the firm of Hirsh & Co., on a warrant procured by M. W. Cooper, one of their creditors, under the Stillwell act. They were charged with having secreted part of their goods and preferring fetitions claims in their assignment. Upon a thorough investigation a large number of their creditors have become satisfied that these charges are unfounded, and on proof accordingly and on motion of Mr. Morris S. Wise, their counsel, an order was yesterday granted by Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court, honorably discharging Messrs. Hirsh and Eckstein from arrest and vacating the proceedings against them. against them.

THE SIXPENNY SAVINGS BANK.

The letter published herewith, signed "A Vic tim," but at the same time bearing the name and address of the writer, was received at the HERALD address of the writer, was received at the Henald office yesterday. An investigation of the facts stated therein discloses a condition of things concerning which the depositors in the now defunct Sixpenny Savings Bank feel entitled to an explanation at the hands of Mr. Russell, the receiver. The letter runs as follows:—

To the Editor of the Henald:—

A new days ago I called on Mr. Russell, the receiver of the Sixpenny Savings Bank, for information in regard to the next payment of a dividend to depositors. I was informed by the clerk that the time for such payment was indefinitely postponed, and that they had every reason to fear a lengthy litigation with the Union Trust Company which would probably delay the payment of a dividence at least a year or two, and consequently greatly diminish the amount of the dividend. Now, I would ask if there exists no way in which this matter can be compromised, and thus save the depositors their money, which is at present intrusted to the care of Mr. Russell? At the same time it yet remains to be seen how Mr. Russell will repay that trust.

A VICTIM.

A HERALD reporter called at the Union Trust Company's office yesterday afternoon with this letter pany's omce yesterday atternoon with this letter and handed it to the President, who read it, and then nanded it back, with the remark, "The statement about a litigation between the Union Trust Company and the Sixpenny Savings Bank is without the slightest foundation in fact. There is no more liti-gation between the two concerns than there is be-tween you and me."
